Some Important Things You Need To Know

Advanced Mineral Complex

Minerals are essential to the maintenance of a healthy, supple skin. Since your body isn't capable of manufacturing minerals, they must be acquired externally. aquabio mineral complex represents an ideal way to incorporate essential minerals in cosmetic formulations. These minerals are bio-available, readily absorbed by the skin and contain glyco-proteins of magnesium, iron, zinc, copper and silicium – the 5 most important active minerals for skin health, combined in a special ratio to keep skin smooth, well moisturized and stimulated.

Magnesium

Magnesium is a major component in the maintenance of function and the structural integrity of tissues.

Iron

Iron, as a carrier of oxygen throughout your body is extremely important. It aids in proper oxygenation of tissues to maintain basic life functions, prevents fatigue, promotes good skin tone and is essential for cell maturation and protein formulation.

Zink

Zinc heals and develops new cells. It maintains your body's alkaline balance and helps in normal tissue function. Zinc plays an important role in an essential cellular antioxidant that is a part of the cell's natural defense system.

Copper

Copper is the key to absorption and utilization of iron. It helps to form elastin, which keeps skin flexible, yet tight. Copper is indirectly important for production of melanin, maintaining skin tanning.

Silicium

Silicium is sometimes called the "dermic cement of the skin" as it plays an important role in supporting skin structure proteins. Silicium is significant in the formation of collagen, which works hand-in-hand with elastin in supporting your skin tissues giving form, providing firmness and strength.

Bio-mimetic Peptide

Designed by unique patented technology to be more efficient, more stable and more bio-available than natural, more vulnerable peptides. aquabio bio-mimetic peptides are a natural skin defense system capable of repairing damage to skin cells and tissue, leading to visible improvement in skin conditions.

After a 4-week treatment there is a significant and visible improvement in deep wrinkles (61%), skin softness (73%), firmness and elasticity.

Powerful antioxidants

Acai

This small Amazonian berry with a deep purple color is a potent source of antioxidants and is present in all aquabio products.

Organic Maté

An organic extract, based on South American medicinal and cultural traditions, that has its own unique combination of phytochemicals and free radical scavengers. Organic Maté is an extraordinarily powerful, multifunctional antioxidant and provides a significant sun protection factor (SPF) boost when added to formulations already containing sunscreens.

Frangipani Flowers

Native to the Pacific and Caribbean tropical islands, South Africa and Mexico, its fragrant white petals are a symbol of women's freshness and beauty and are also used to make colorful Hawaiian leis. Rich in flavonoids and essential oils, Frangipani is known for its soothing effect on stressed, irritated skin and is used to help cleanse and sooth tired and swollen eyes.

HYPOALLERGENIC

All aquabio skin care products are hypoallergenic and free of parabens and formaldehyde to ensure optimal dermatological safety and effectiveness.
